

What has this world become?

What has this world become? The love of money has influenced everyone, everywhere! We have all taken what God has created, and turned it into an item for sale. To further gain more money, we have sold parts of the earth. The love of money is the root of all evil, this is because we treasure some tangible item, rather than loving God who has created everything. Different people seem to own, different parts of the earth, or different items for sale, and money is the key to obtaining something for yourself. If you have enough money, you can give it to another person, and obtain what they have. Everything is for sale. And, the person who receives the money is happy, because they have more money after something is sold, and they can go any buy something they desire. We are suppose to love God, not items from a store. But, we have all gotten caught up loving what money can obtain. The fear of running out of money, motivates us to go to work each day. We like having a place to call home, In order to keep our home, we must continually give money to another person. If we do not, then we will loose our home. Plus, we will lose items like phone service, cable tv, electric, if we do not continually give money to the other people. Thus cash must be given to other people, because we ask for something that they own, and desire it! People all over the earth, spend great amounts of time and effort, producing retail items for sale, hoping to sell the items, at a greater amount of money, than they obtained the item, thus getting some amount of profit for themselves, so that they will have money to buy what they desire for themselves. We are all caught up in this game! The devil has inspired the human race to develop the earth over many years, and now, the earth has been developed into a place, where money is the key to obtaining provisions for yourself. Thus we love money, and what it can buy, not God. Has the devil won? We have to strive, and only love God, and not get caught up in this game that we are playing. Jesus is our example! His treasure is entirely in Heaven, and not on the earth. He did not care about what he could have for himself when he was upon the earth. We should try to be more like him, and do the same. We should not fear a loss, from items obtained by money, but rather, start loving God, with our whole hearts!.....
